

Resources for Students and Staff Recovering from Natural Disaster

COUNSELING SUPPORT FOR STUDENTS AND STAFF

Our Director of Special Education, Dr. Cynthia Barrett, and our Social-Emotional Learning (SEL) and Mental Health Education Specialist, Dr. Lakeisha Kearney, have provided the below links to useful online documents and websites. Please note that the below links are to external websites and resources. The list is not exhaustive, but highlights resources that may be useful in your communications and work with returning educators, students, and parents.

Large Scale Natural Disasters Helping Children Cope:

This is an article and printable PDF (available in Spanish) from the National Association of School Psychologists (NASP). According to NASP: Schools and community agencies may adapt the posted handout to local needs for educational and student support purposes as long as proper credit is given to NASP.

Link: <https://www.nasponline.org/resources-and-publications/resources-and-podcasts/school-climate-safety-and-crisis/natural-disaster-resources/large-scale-natural-disasters-helping-children-cope>

Natural Disasters: Brief Facts and Tips:

This link features a printable PDF (also available in Spanish) from the National Association of School Psychologists (NASP). NASP has made these materials available free of charge to the public in order to promote the ability of children and youth to cope with traumatic or unsettling times. The materials may be adapted, reproduced, reprinted, or linked to websites without specific permission. However, the integrity of the content must be maintained, and NASP must be given proper credit.

Link: <https://www.nasponline.org/resources-and-publications/resources-and-podcasts/school-climate-safety-and-crisis/natural-disaster-resources/natural-disasters-brief-facts-and-tips>

Helping Children after Natural Disasters:

Colorín Colorado is a national multimedia project that provides research-based information and activities for educators and families of English language learners (ELLs) and is based in Washington, D.C. The link below has updated resources to offer guidance to families and schools related to natural disasters. You are welcome to print copies of their materials for personal use or educational purposes as long as credit is given to Colorín Colorado and the author(s). Permission to publish materials must be granted by the copyright holder. Because they get their articles from a variety of sources, please check the bottom of each article for special reprint permissions or additional restrictions from the publisher.

Link: <http://www.colorincolorado.org/article/helping-children-after-natural-disaster>

Coping with National Disasters:

This website features free lesson sharing funded by the American Federation of Teachers. Built by educators across the country, it brings together a community of teachers, paraprofessionals, school related personnel, parents, and partners to provide a substantial list of resources. The devastation and loss of life from events such as hurricanes or a tornado can be emotional damaging to children. These resources will help you and your students understand and cope with natural disasters. The lesson plans are grouped by topic, subject and grade level and include resources from a variety of agencies.

Note: You must sign-up for a free membership to access these lesson plans. They are NOT screened and are contributed by authors under creative commons from across the United States.

Link: <https://sharemylesson.com/collections/coping-natural-disasters>

Dr. Barrett and the Region 4 team are available to help you, your students, and staff return to school. We are also here to help you support each other. You may reach Dr. Barrett or Dr. Kearney directly at the below numbers.

Cynthia Barrett, Ph.D.

Director, Special Education Solutions

Region 4 Education Service Center

7145 West Tidwell Rd.

Houston, TX 77092

E-mail: cynthia.barrett@esc4.net

Phone: 713.744.6365

LaKeisha Kearney, Ph.D.

Social-Emotional Learning (SEL) and Mental Health Specialist, Special Education Solutions

Region 4 Education Service Center

7145 West Tidwell Rd.

Houston, TX 77092

E-mail: Lakeisha.Kearney@esc4.net

Phone: 713.744.6309